

Bronx Community High School

Sakiya Sandifer, creative advisor to Kanye West and co – author of their upcoming book, “Thank You and You’re Welcome!” conducted a motivational workshop at the Bronx Community High School on September 21, 2007. This workshop touched upon pieces of his current book “Think, Think, Think and Think Again”, which is a collection of unique ideas designed to spark those seeking to create positive change.

Student Testimonials:

- It made me want to do more with my life. It made me want to succeed.
- He opens up your mind and gives you more hope.
- I loved the fact that we had the chance to hear this.
- It made me realize that anything can happen if you put your mind into it.
- He inspired me to stop wasting time and to follow my dream.
- He helped me realize that people should not be able to put me down or to let their words hurt me. It should make me stronger.